DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

3. Claims 1, 7, 9 and 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Johnson 6,171,345, in view of Catron et al. 4,340,402 or Latakas et al. 4,105,423.

4. Johnson discloses an air filter comprising a filter substrate and an adhesive layer (claim 1), where the adhesive layer contains odor neutralizers. The adhesive is a pressure sensitive adhesive. The adhesive is a pressure sensitive adhesive. Catron teaches that in an air filter both hot melt and pressure sensitive adhesives can be used. See column 1, line 37. Latakas et al. make the same point in column 6, lines 3-10, additionally stating that hot melt adhesives are especially advantageous. Accordingly, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art, at the time the invention was made, to use a hot melt adhesive, or a hot melt pressure sensitive adhesive, in the art filter of Johnson.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

5. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

6. Claims 1-24 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter, which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. The specification only names tradenames as odor neutralizing materials. The chemical composition and the method of manufacturing these materials are not disclosed. There is no mention of alternative materials. If Quest went out of business, one of ordinary skill in the art would be unable to secure the claimed compounds. Furthermore, the manufacturer can change the composition of a material sold under a tradename without disclosing the change.

7. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter, which the applicant regards as his invention.

8. Claims 1-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 4, 5, 14, 15 24 contain the trademark/trade name Quest Fragrance Q-29071 and Quest Fragrance Q-29072. Where a trademark or trade name is used in a claim as a limitation to identify or describe a particular material or product, the claim does not comply with the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph. See Ex parte Simpson, 218 USPQ 1020 (Bd. App. 1982). The claim scope is uncertain since the trademark or trade name cannot be used properly to identify any particular material or product. A trademark or trade name is used to identify a source of goods, and not the goods themselves. Thus, a trademark or trade name does not identify or describe the goods associated with the trademark or trade name. In the present case, the trademark/trade name is used to identify/describe odor neutralizing materials and, accordingly, the identification/description is indefinite.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 9/21/05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicants argue that the designations Quest Fragrance Q29071 and Quest Fragrance Q-29072 designate not only the source of the goods but the goods themselves. The examiner disagrees. Applicants' submitted no proof of their allegations. The composition of the materials remains undisclosed. The number is not necessarily a specific compositional formulation. Most trademarks are accompanied by a number. Furthermore products can be not only changed but discontinued too, or the supplier can increase the price to an extent, where substitute materials are desirable.

Without a disclosed chemical composition substitutions are not possible. The "Q" numbers applicants are using to identify the claimed products are not CAS numbers or

C.I. numbers. The rejections are maintained.

Conclusion

9. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
